Hello Greenbank Farm Tenants, Friends, and Volunteers,

Our weekly update...

- Prepare for a Greenbank Farm Playground face lift! A huge thank you to volunteers that gave financial support, product research, labor, and continued prodding! A special thank you to Judi Moore for pushing this rock up the hill in all ways since last fall and additional thank yous to Santa David (David Paull) and Commissioner Patrick Kennedy for financial and moral support.
- The plaques for Brian's memorial will be ordered soon. Assuming we can get the plaques back in two - three weeks I would like to set the Greenbank Farm memorial date as June 30 at 10:00 am. I will send out a separate email to all tenants and volunteers and see if that time works. I am hoping that it will work for the tenants as they typically open at 11:00, but that may not work. That will also give Santa David time to get back on Island for the memorial.
- Below is the latest Whidbey Art Trail pamphlet, if you want to check out the cover artwork just go to Barn C and see it at the Fire of the Heart Gallery. Congratulations Becca!!!
- In case you have not noticed The Greenbank Wine Shop is now having outdoor wine tastings, hopefully the weather will soon cooperate for Hollie's new venue.
- We are working with Seth Luginbill at the Noxious Weed Board to identify and remove noxious weeds here at the Farm. Keep an eye out for an educational presentation about noxious weeds.
- The oven in the Barn A prep kitchen has been replaced. Somehow the oven door was broken beyond repair and Paul has replaced it with a different oven.
- Shelly is back from vacation! She was missed! She has a new tool to fight those blackberries, hopefully it will save her some time and effort (and scratches!)
- We had some shuffling of tenants in the P Patch and one of our waitlisted tenants is working very hard to get his patch up and running. Welcome David! Also a big welcome to Liz for joining us in the P Patch!
- The elevator in Barn C passed inspection and the new certificate is displayed in the cab of the elevator.

See you next week!
